The many islands within this huge atoll are crowned with natural beauty. The outer barrier reef is punctuated with idyllic sandspits dotted with coconut palms. The high islands in the central lagoon rise into the blue Micronesian skies.

Chuuk State consists of 290 islands with 250 islands uninhabited. The islands have natural beauty and most still display a traditional lifestyle.

There are many wartime wrecks on land and underwater. The huge inner lagoon is famously known for the "World's Greatest Wreck Diving."

Natural Beauty

Chuuk comprises many islands within this huge atoll. Development is minimal on most and they are crowned with natural tropical beauty. Visitors can see the islands and there are many "picnic islands" that are great for day trips and realxing. Some even have facilities to overnight under the stars. The high islands still hold remnants of WWII and history buffs will enjoy hikes and tours to see these sites. Traditional life can be viewed as men pound breadfruit and women weave baskets from coconut palms.

Friendly People

Chuukese people enjoy meeting and talking to island visitors. It is customary to offer a guest a drink, which may be in the form of a freshly picked and cut coconut. The Chuukese also have a major market in Weno where fruits and other fresh foods may be found and tasted. Say "Ran Anim" (Hello) and enjoy the easy-going island lifestyle of the lagoon.

Amazing Diving

The sea floor beneath the Chuuk Lagoon is steeped in history. Many divers feel it has the best collection of shipwrecks and WWII era airplanes in the world. The hulks have been transformed into amazing "shipreefs", holding the very best of the undersea world and maritime history at one site. Incredible corals in a kaleidoscope of colors and shapes fed by warm, clear waters attract divers worldwide.

Often overlooked are the outer reefs where a great variety of fish and graceful sharks live on steep, untouched walls and slopes.
