Guam

The largest island in Micronesia, Guam is home to over 60 dive sites with everything from planes and shipwrecks to incredible reef dives. Some of the most popular dive sites in Guam include the twin shipwrecks of the Tokai Maru and the SMS Cormoran, Blue Hole, Coral Gardens, Barracuda Rock and Haps Reef.

Chuuk

Chuuk, a part of the Federated States of Micronesia, is a large archipelago with mountainous islands surrounded by a string of islets on a barrier reef. Shinkoku Maru, Fujikawa Maru, San Francisco Maru and Shark Island are notable dive sites in and around the Chuuk lagoon.

Yap

Yap's rich cultural heritage includes the use of stone money, traditional Yapese outrigger canoes and storied World War II relics both on land (Japanese WWII aircraft at old airport) and underwater. Favorite dive spots in Yap include Mi'il Channel, Lionfish Wall, Valley of the Rays and Yap Caverns.

Pohnpei

Pohnpei boasts nine marine-protected areas where healthy coral reef ecosystems and dramatic drop offs are home to a wide array of marine life from sharks, fish and rays. Popular dive sites around the Garden Island of Pohnpei include Palikir Pass, Mwand Wall and Pass, as well as Manta Channel, known as the best place to spot manta rays.

Kosrae

Considered the jewel of Micronesia, Kosrae is a beautiful island paradise rich in historical sites and ruins, lush rainforest valleys, ancient mangrove swamps, coral reefs and welcoming people. The natural and vibrant beauty of Kosrae's reefs, vegetation and mountains attracts divers and hikers from all over the world.

The Marshall Islands

Consisting of 29 atolls and 5 islands with over 1,000 species of fish, 250 species of hard and soft corals, and year-round diving with excellent visibility, the Marshall Islands are undoubtedly a favorite diving destination. The beautiful coral reefs, exotic species of fish and WWII wrecks make the Marshall Islands a diver's paradise.
